Why SAFE ZONE?

Education providers are facing new and demanding challenges due to the increasing complexity of modern society as radicalization and extreme violence rank high amongst the concerns shared by international bodies and public opinion. Addressing these challenges requires effective coordinated efforts involving all actors that play a role in the education of youth. Despite the universal recognition of the centrality of sports in guaranteeing the well-balanced psycho-sociological development of youth, coaches and trainers are not necessarily aware either of their role and functions, or how they can contribute to the educational needs of young people. In response to this lack of awareness, Safe Zone intends to address the need to empower coaches and educators in sports in order to strengthen their educational relationship with young people and contribute to the prevention of violence and youth radicalization.
